One day, all children in Malaysia will have the opportunity to attain an excellent education.
It has been a privilege and honour for me to be a part of the Teach For Malaysia Foundation, where I have gained much knowledge and insight into the challenges that children in Malaysia face every day in classrooms and schools. As Chairperson of this Foundation, it is with much pride that I’ve watched Teach For Malaysia grow from a team of two to a movement of 104 Fellows across 43 different schools. Together with my esteemed fellow Trustees and a dynamic management team, we will continue to strive towards achieving our vision that one day, all children in Malaysia will have the opportunity to attain an excellent education.

Teach For Malaysia believes that no child’s future should ever be determined by his or her origins. It aims to build a transformational movement in our education system by placing the country’s most promising leaders as full-time teachers in Malaysia’s most challenging schools to combat education inequity. Its leadership development and Alumni impact in the long haul immediately received attention, support and buy-in from the Ministry of Education, without which we could not move forward in our journey.

Our first key milestone was recruiting of 50 Fellows for our inaugural cohort in 2012. We were inspired by the impact Fellows could bring into their classrooms, influencing one child at a time to dream bigger and work harder towards their dreams. In the following year, Teach For Malaysia expanded to 104 Fellows in 43 high-need schools across 6 states in Malaysia. Our numbers may appear small but the passion and quality of these teachers will be the drivers towards changing the life paths of children. Nevertheless, the journey towards ending education inequity is callous and enduring.

The next several years are promising for Teach For Malaysia as the organisation aims to scale up ambitiously and deliver more success in the classroom. A data hub for Fellows is in progress to allow Fellows greater access to helping students improve and develop in and beyond the classroom.

We want to establish and strengthen relationships with stakeholders and prospective partners from the Government, private sector and most importantly our Fellows and their families. Together, we can all collaborate and bring about the transformation required to meet the challenge of ending education inequity on a national and systemic level.

The Board has been constantly kept abreast of Teach For Malaysia’s developments through our quarterly meetings. We learn about the challenges that students face in pursuit of quality education and the deep passion that Fellows demonstrate to help students attain their goals. The Board is inspired by these students and Fellows, and actively participate in programs and projects organised by Fellows. We also advocate for opportunities in the work sector and also serve as a resource for leadership development.

Teach For Malaysia serves a great cause for the development of Malaysia and we, the Board, would like to extend our appreciation to all current and prospective partners, supporters, volunteers and friends of Teach For Malaysia. We salute the Fellows and staff members for their dedication, endurance and passion during this journey. Last but not least, we thank you for your generosity and look forward to your continued support for Teach for Malaysia in the years to come.

Fundamentally, to be a good teacher, one must first be a good leader. Teach For Malaysia aims to address the national educational imbalance through the transformation of exceptional Malaysian graduates and young professionals into effective, inspirational teachers and leaders, by placing them in our country’s most challenging schools.”

Dzameer Dzulkifli
Co-Founder & Managing Director
The idea of starting Teach For Malaysia came about from a conversation at a mamak stall between the two co-founders, Keeran Sivarajah and Dzameer Dzulkifli, both associates at PriceWaterhouseCoopers.

EARLY 2009
Khazanah Nasional Berhad agree to fund Teach For Malaysia thanks to the effort of founding Trustee Shahnaz Al-Sadat Abdul Mohsein, who advocates for the initiative in her capacity as Khazanah’s then Executive Director of Strategic Human Capital Management.

The next few months see Keeran and Dzameer working hard to build a dynamic, passionate team and secure funding and support from additional sources.

Inspired by the successes of initiatives like Teach For America and Teach First in the UK, Keeran and Dzameer start developing the framework for Teach For Malaysia with help from Institut Aminuddin Baki and benchmark it against the recommendations and principles of the Teach For All network.

With its proven model and strong framework, Teach For Malaysia gains strong buy-in and support from various individuals and departments within the Ministry of Education and Economic Planning Unit, who push for its implementation.

OUR CORE VALUES

SENSE OF POSSIBILITY

No one thought Teach For Malaysia would grow from just an idea between two people to a movement of 104 Fellows on the ground teaching in high-need schools in Malaysia so rapidly. But it is with a great sense of possibility that our team has overcome the immense challenges as a start-up organisation and have come this far. Hence, we believe that our sense of possibility will equip us with confidence, positivity and strength to continue pushing the status quo and to achieve our goal of one day, all children in Malaysia will have the opportunity to attain an excellent education.

EXCELLENCE

“We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence then is not an act, but a habit.” – Aristotle

Excellence is often mistaken as being perfect or achieving perfection. Indeed, the need for perfection is factored in excellence and these two words are usually intertwined. However, excellence is about giving the best consistently and without compromise. Excellence also covers the attitude of the person in how the work is done and at Teach For Malaysia, we truly believe it is about giving our best at all times to create that habit of excellence in order to one day achieve perfection.

Former Teacher at SMK Green Road, Sarawak

COLLABORATION

“If you want to go fast - go alone, but if you want to go far - go together” – African proverb. Working in Partnership Development team at TFM has taught me that the meaningful connections built between stakeholders and their various functions is integral to improving the quality of education in our country. Collaborating well with one another, i.e. building trust and establishing ethical working relationships, is crucial in enabling each individual and organisation to reflect on the inner and outer environments they operate in - and therefore improve the way we engage each other, and ultimately find that common ground where we all move together towards a shared vision of excellent education for all.

INTEGRITY

The West Point Cadet Prayer asks to “make us choose the harder right instead of the easier wrong, and never be content with a half-truth when the whole can be won.” This phrase always comes to my mind when facing difficult choices in life. In a mission-driven organisation like Teach For Malaysia, it is so critical that we always choose the harder right over the easier wrong. We work to ensure all children have access to an excellent education. We cannot compromise our truth or integrity because the stakes are too high.

OUR VISION

"One day, all children in Malaysia will have the opportunity to attain an excellent education."

Education inequity is the reality that a child’s origin often determines the quality of his or her education, and therefore future outcomes. Teach For Malaysia believes that this problem is one of the greatest and most urgent challenges in our country and the world today.

More than ever, these children need leaders and teachers who believe deeply that all children can reach their fullest potential, regardless of their background.

Teach For Malaysia believes that education inequity can be solved if Malaysia’s best and brightest immerse themselves in the realities and complexities of the issue, working together in schools and beyond to give every child the opportunity for an excellent education.

The widening gap between high-performing schools and high-need schools is magnified by these three complexities:

SOCIO-ECONOMIC FACTORS
Poverty deprives children of adequate health care, nutrition, housing, and access to high quality preschool programmes, creating additional education needs.

SCHOOL SYSTEM FACTORS
Certain school systems are unable to meet the extra requirements of high-need students and to overcome the additional challenges poverty presents.

PREVAILING IDEOLOGIES
Deep-seated notions that children in high-need communities are unable to overcome existing obstacles perpetuate the cycle of inequity.

OUR MISSION

Teach For Malaysia Annual Report 2011-12
Teach For Malaysia attracts Malaysia’s most promising future leaders from a pool of top university graduates and young professionals for the Fellowship. This leadership development programme sees Fellows placed in high-need schools across Malaysia to teach for two years.

Over the past two years, the team has been focusing their efforts in recruiting talents for the programme from top universities both locally and overseas:

We look for leaders who demonstrate perseverance in the face of obstacles, the ability to influence and motivate others, and those willing to work relentlessly to ensure that children who face the challenges of poverty have an excellent education.

In 2011 and 2012, 2,225 candidates applied to the Teach For Malaysia Fellowship and less than 10% of these applications were offered a place in the programme. Approximately 60% of successful candidates accepted the challenge to teach in high-need schools in Malaysia.
8-WEEK TRAINING INSTITUTE

In order to achieve our vision of One Day, we believe it is essential that our Fellows develop the knowledge, skills and mindsets necessary to have a transformational impact on the lives of students, starting at Institute. The Institute is an intense and challenging training period designed to help our incoming Fellows to understand the nature and scale of education inequity in Malaysia, as well as giving them the maximum tools and knowledge needed to be successful in the classroom.

The Institute is a combination of:
- 4-week Theoretical Component
- 4-week Practical Component

"Kem SKORlah was quite a thrilling and scary experience. For the first time, I taught in a classroom, and it was also then that I learnt that teaching was definitely rocket science—challenging but very enjoyable. The experience at Kem SKORlah gave us the first taste and help us prepare ourselves for the massive challenges that were to come throughout the Fellowship."

Brian Geh
2012 Fellow
Master of Advanced Study Degree in Mathematics, University of Cambridge

Total Training Time
352 Hours

Joint Collaboration with
Institut Amunuddin Baki, Institut Pendidikan Guru, Childline Malaysia and Scholastic

Using 3A’s
Transformational Impact Model

4-Week Theoretical Component:
3A’s for Transformational Impact

At Teach For Malaysia, we believe academic achievement alone is not enough to set our students up for success. An excellent education goes beyond academics, and we define it as follows:

Achievement:
Academic and non-academic achievement at a globally competitive level collectively, and reaching full potential individually

Affect:
Growth in character strengths that are universally valued

Access:
Access to exposures and opportunities to explore and discover full potential of individual talent

4-Week Practical Component:
Kem SKORlah

Kem SKORlah is the practical training component of Institute, and allows Fellows to gain hands-on teaching experience before they set out on their 2-year Fellowship.

For the past 2 years, our Fellows have taught English and Mathematics at selected schools during the year-end school holidays. At Kem SKORlah, Fellows set an ambitious goal of achieving 30% average growth with their students.

In 2012, 454 students participated in Kem SKORlah with:

- 23% average gains in English
  As compared to 17% in 2011’s Institute

- 33% average gains in Mathematics
  As compared to 31% in 2011’s Institute
Upon completion of our Training Institute, Fellows will be placed in high-need schools in Malaysia. In collaboration with the Ministry of Education, placement schools are selected based on the following criteria:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>School Rating</th>
<th>Strong support from school leadership</th>
<th>Concentration of Fellows</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>based on public examination results and holistic assessment by the Ministry of Education's Inspectorate of Schools (The School Improvement Programme)</td>
<td>with a demonstrated interest in investing school and staff in Teach For Malaysia’s success</td>
<td>with a minimum of 2-3 Fellows per school to ensure strong culture, build a sense of community and facilitate in-service support</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

At the moment, Teach For Malaysia is focused on placing Fellows in 43 high-need schools across 6 states. We hope to ensure continued presence and sustainable impact on the students and schools as we develop the resources and capacity to expand further across Malaysia.

"Everyone has a right to equal education. Everyone deserves a chance to reach for their dreams. Everyone deserves to know the possibilities education can offer them. Everyone is worth the time and effort. I can’t make an overnight change, but I can start one class at a time."

After the Training Institute, Fellows begin their challenging journey as full-time teachers in national public schools. Under contract with the Ministry of Education, they will be fulfilling their roles as transformational teachers, impacting their students’ lives and setting them up for success.

Throughout the 2-year Fellowship, our Fellows are given continuous support through:

- Post Graduate Diploma in Education (PGDE) Course
  A teaching qualification taught by Universiti Utara Malaysia (UUM) with the aim to provide our Fellows with the basic pedagogies, knowledge and guidance to teach in Malaysia’s classrooms.

- A School-based Mentor (SBM)
  An experienced teacher in each Fellow’s placement school who helps integrate Fellows to fit into the school culture and system and provides guidance on subject-related queries.

- An Institut Amminuddin Baki Mentor
  An experienced teacher from the education management institute of the Ministry of Education who visits our Fellows at their respective placement schools to ensure the overall well-being of our Fellows.

- Leader Development Officer (LDO)
  An experienced teacher who coaches Fellows on pedagogical strategies and best practices rooted in the Transformational Impact Model. LDOs help our Fellows to develop technical and leadership skills in the classroom and beyond.

- In-service Training
  Professional development sessions to reinforce and build on Institute training and aimed at helping Teach For Malaysia Fellows tackle current challenges and issues in schools.

90% 1,2 Retention rate of 2012 cohort

The retention rate of Fellows refers to the number of Fellows who are still part of the Fellowship. It is calculated as: (current number of Fellows in the 2012 cohort/ number of Fellows who started in the 2012 cohort) x 100%.

1 Excludes 5 Fellows from 2012 that dropped out of the Fellowship.

We have a different national duty to preserve our hard-fought Independence - and it is to teach someone, whether it be in a refugee school, a religious class, a tuition centre or in a hall of university students.

Teach, because no other endeavour develops one’s leadership and character than the endeavour to impart into, mentor, encourage, correct and guide another human being.

Teach, because we have a different kind of freedom to fight for in our modern-day Malaysia - the freedom from education inequity.

Beyond the Fellowship

Addressing the complex issue of education inequity involves short term and long term involvement from various stakeholders. Therefore, creating a movement of Alumni in positions of influence in the corporate, social, education and government sectors is critical to our vision.

In order to do this, our team, Board of Trustees and our growing number of supporters are committed to ensuring that Fellows develop the leadership competencies and network to thrive in any field. During the course of the Fellowship, Teach For Malaysia’s Alumni team will advise Fellows on career opportunities based on their interests. Currently, the team is building relationships with the Ministry of Education and organisations across diverse sectors to facilitate interactions and assist with employment opportunities after the Fellowship.

“Through the 2-year Fellowship, Teach For Malaysia is building a movement of leaders across a broad range of sectors and roles. We believe that the shared experience of teaching for path-changing success in high-need classrooms will arm our Alumni with the knowledge and urgency they need to end education inequity.”

Teach For Malaysia Week (TFM Week) sees inspiring leaders from various industries co-teaching a class with Teach For Malaysia Fellows. It brings together key industry players to inspire students by introducing them to opportunities made available through education. TFM Week also provides an avenue for these leaders to experience first-hand the challenges faced by students and teachers in high-need schools in Malaysia. It simultaneously develops Fellows’ leadership skills and gives Fellows the opportunity to build investment in various stakeholders.

TFM Week: Flipped is an event that builds upon the Access piece from TFM Week by taking students out of their classrooms and exposing them to different opportunities beyond the classroom. In 2012, students were given the opportunity to visit radio stations, Maybank, Pusat Sains Negara and the Microsoft office, to name a few destinations. This also presented opportunities for Fellows’ growth as they take on greater ownership in the planning and execution of their Flipped trips.

Partners and Supporters Meeting Twice a year, Teach For Malaysia organises meetings for partners and supporters to update them on our overall progress and to share our aspirations moving forward. The meetings also encourage networking and collaboration between partners, supporters and Teach For Malaysia.
DRIVE
TRANSFORMATIONAL IMPACT
Teach For Malaysia’s goal is to change the life trajectories of students in high-need schools. We believe this transformational impact for students can only be achieved through transformational leadership and teaching. We focus on supporting and growing our Fellows’ skills, knowledge and mindsets in order to create impact on students’ Achievement, Affect and Access.

SCALE UP
AMBITUOUSLY
Given the magnitude of the challenge in classrooms, the education system and society, we believe we urgently need to increase our chances of long term systemic impact. Growing the programme whilst maintaining quality would serve to reinforce the message of how urgent and important this challenge is and why we should be passing on our best to the next generation.

ACCELERATE
ALUMNI IMPACT
The Fellowship creates individuals who understand education inequity and have first-hand experience that the problem can be solved one child and one classroom at a time. This experience equips our Alumni to contribute to the mission, regardless of their career path. We hope that our Alumni will assume leadership positions in various sectors and collectively impact the education system and society at large.

BUILD FOUNDATIONS TO DRIVE CHANGE
The social sector in Malaysia lags behind both the private and the public sectors in its utilisation of financial, talent, technology and brand resources. We hope to set new benchmarks in these four areas, increasing our efficiency and effectiveness given the mission and the movement we are building. A strong programme can only be executed by a strong organisation.
Over the past three years, we have built strong and valuable relationships with our partners. As a non-profit organisation, we rely on funding, donations and support from the government, corporations and generous individuals. We thank you for your support and for joining us in our efforts to do more than dream. We look forward to working together to build an impactful and sustainable movement that will change the futures of Malaysian children.

"There is a universal power in channelling a nation's leaders to face its most fundamental challenge. Soon we will have, in dozens of countries around the world, unstoppable movements to realise the day when all children have the opportunity to attain an excellent education."

Teach For Malaysia is an opportunity for the leaders of our generation to control destinies - the destinies of students, and that of our nation. I believe the experience of teaching in high-need schools will be at once both humbling and rewarding for Fellows. Their actions will have the potential to change the life trajectories of their students, ensuring that poverty will not be their destiny.”

Notes to the financial statements
For the financial year ended 31 December 2012

1. Corporate information

The Foundation is principally engaged in identifying low socio-economic communities in need of assistance in providing quality education to children by recruiting and developing promising future leaders of a variety of disciplines and career interests to commit two years to teach in areas of educational need through collaborative efforts with the Government and to foster a dedicated movement of leaders in education, and across all other sectors, to effect the fundamental changes necessary to ensure educational opportunity for all. There have been no significant changes in the nature of the principal activities during the financial year.

The Foundation is a company limited by shares, incorporated and domiciled in Malaysia. The registered office of the Company is located at Zahh & Co., 6th Floor, Akademi Eliqa, No. 23, Jalan Melaka, 50400 Kuala Lumpur.

The financial statements were authorised for issue by the Board of Trustees in accordance with a resolution of the Trustees on 14 June 2013.

2. Significant accounting policies

2.1 Basis of preparation

The financial statements of the Foundation have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 1965 and with the Malaysian Financial Reporting Standards ("MFRSs"), which is in compliance with the International Financial Reporting Standards issued by International Accounting Standards Board ("IASB"). These are the Foundation's first financial statements prepared in accordance with MFRSs and MFRS 1, First Time Adoption of Malaysian Financial Reporting Standards has been applied.

In previous period, the financial statements of the Foundation were prepared in accordance with Financial Reporting Standards ("FRSs"). The financial impact on transition to MFRSs are disclosed in Note 2.2.

The financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis.

The financial statements are presented in Ringgit Malaysia ("RM"), which is also the Foundation's functional currency.

2.2 Changes in accounting policies

The new and revised MFRSs which are mandatory for companies with financial period beginning on or after 1 January 2012 do not give rise to any significant effects on the financial statements of the Foundation.

2.3 Standards issued but not yet effective

The Trustees expect that the new MFRSs which are issued but not yet effective for the financial year ended 31 December 2012 will not have a material impact on the financial statements of the Foundation in the period of initial application.

2.4 Significant accounting estimates and judgments

The preparation of financial statement in accordance with MFRSs requires the use of certain accounting estimates and exercise of judgments. Estimates and judgments are continuously evaluated and are based on past experience, reasonable expectations of future events and other factors.

The Trustees are of the opinion that there are no key assumption concerning the future or other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the balance sheet date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amount of asset and liabilities within the next financial year.

2.5 Summary of significant accounting policies

(a) Income tax

(i) Current tax

Current tax assets and liabilities are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authorities. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted or substantively enacted by the reporting date.

Current taxes are recognized in profit or loss except to the extent that the tax relates to items recognized outside profit or loss, either in other comprehensive income or directly in equity.

(ii) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided using the liability method on temporary differences at the reporting date between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes.
2. Significant accounting policies (cont'd.)

2.5 Summary of significant accounting policies (cont'd.)

(a) Income tax (cont'd.)

(ii) Deferred tax (cont'd.)

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all temporary differences, except:

- where the deferred tax liability arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; and

- in respect of taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, where the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences can be controlled and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses, to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilised except:

- where the deferred tax asset relating to the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; and

- in respect of deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is probable that the temporary differences will reverse in the foreseeable future and taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profit will allow the deferred tax assets to be utilised.

(b) Equipment and depreciation

All items of equipment are initially recorded at cost. Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Foundation and the cost of the item can be reliably measured.

Subsequent to recognition, equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and any accumulated impairment losses.

Depreciation of the equipment is provided for on a straight-line basis to write off the cost of each asset to its residual value over the estimated useful life, at the following annual rates:

- Computer equipment: 33%
- Office equipment: 33%

The residual values, useful life and depreciation method are reviewed at each financial year-end to ensure that the amount, method and period of depreciation are consistent with previous estimates and the expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits embodied in the items of equipment.

An item of equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when its future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. The difference between the net disposal proceeds, if any and the net carrying amount is recognised in profit or loss.

(c) Financial assets

Financial assets are recognised in the balance sheet when, and only when, the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument.

When financial assets are recognised initially, they are measured at fair value, plus directly attributable transaction costs. The Company determines the classification of its financial assets at initial recognition.

A financial asset is derecognised where the contractual right to receive cash flows from the asset has expired. On derecognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and any cumulative gain or loss that had been recognised in other comprehensive income is recognised in profit and loss.
2. Significant accounting policies (cont’d.)

2.5 Summary of significant accounting policies (cont’d.)

(c) Financial assets (cont’d.)

(i) Receivables

Financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market are classified as receivables.

Subsequent to initial recognition, receivables are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the receivables are derecognised or impaired, and through the amortisation process.

(d) Impairment of financial assets

The Company assess at each reporting date whether there is any objective evidence that a financial asset is impaired.

(i) Receivables carried at amortised cost

To determine whether there is objective evidence that an impairment loss on financial assets has been incurred, the Company considers factors such as the probability of insolvency or significant financial difficulties of the debtor and default or significant delay in payments.

If any such evidence exists, the amount of impairment loss is measured as the difference between the asset’s carrying value and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the financial asset’s original effective interest rate. The impairment loss is recognised in profit or loss.

If in a subsequent period, the amount of impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognised, the previously recognised impairment loss is reversed to the extent that the carrying amount of the asset does not exceed its amortised cost at the reversal date. The amount of reversal is recognised in profit or loss.

(e) Impairment of non-financial assets

The Foundation assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any such indication exists, or when annual impairment assessment for an asset is required, the Foundation makes an estimate of the asset’s recoverable amount.

(f) Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are classified according to the substance of the contractual arrangements entered into and the definitions of a financial liability.

Financial liabilities, within the scope of MFRS 129 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement, are recognised in the statement of financial position when, and only when, the Foundation becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument.

The Foundation’s financial liabilities include other payables.
2. Significant accounting policies (cont'd.)

(i) Financial liabilities (cont'd.)

Financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value less directly attributable transaction costs and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the liabilities are derecognised, and through the amortisation process.

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is extinguished.

(e) Cash and cash equivalents

For the purposes of the statement of cash flow, cash and cash equivalents include cash at bank and short term deposits which has an insignificant risk of changes in value.

14. Financial risk management objectives and policies

The Foundation's financial risk management policy seeks to ensure that adequate financial resources are available for the achievement of the Foundation's objectives and principal activities whilst managing its liquidity risk and credit risks. The definition of these risks are as follows:

(a) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that funds will not be available to meet liabilities as and when they fall due. The Foundation actively manages this risk by maintaining good governance over the cash management of the contribution received from its members, and operates within clearly defined guidelines that are approved by the Trustees.

The table below summarises the maturity profile of the Foundation’s liabilities at the reporting date based on contractual undiscounted repayment obligations.

<tr>

<td>1,242,490</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(b) Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of loss that may arise on outstanding financial instruments should a counterparty default on its obligations. The Company’s exposure to credit risk arises from other receivables. The Company minimises credit risk by dealing exclusively with credible and established companies.

At the reporting date, the Company’s maximum exposure to credit risk is represented by the carrying amount of the other receivables and cash and bank balances.

15. Fair values

The fair values of all financial assets and liabilities approximate the carrying amounts due to their relative short term maturities.

16. Capital management

The Foundation manages its capital by following the Foundation’s policies and guidelines and also seeks approval from the Trustees with regard to all capital management matters. Presently, the Foundation’s activities are entirely funded via contributions from government and corporate bodies.
